Introduction

Shropshire County Council has prepared a Waste Local Plan, in accordance with the requirements of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 as amended by the Planning and Compensation Act 1991.

The Regulations that set out the requirements for the preparation of development plans, are the 'Town and Country Planning (Development Plan) (England) Regulations 1999'. Specifically in connection with this document, Regulation 21 requires local planning authorities to prepare a statement listing:

1. the persons they have consulted;
2. the steps they have taken to publicise the plan; and,
3. the opportunity that has been given to make representations in respect of the plan.

This document is intended to meet these requirements by describing the steps which were taken to prepare the plan, the publicity arrangements and opportunities provided to comment.

Regulation 22 (2) requires that this document is available at the Council's principal offices, which are:

The Plan Preparation Process

This is the 'Adopted' Waste Local Plan. The Plan was adopted by the County Council on 22nd October 2004. The Adopted Plan includes changes which were recommended by an independent Planning Inspector following a Public Local Inquiry in January 2004.

Persons Consulted

At First Deposit Draft stage, copies of the Plan were sent to statutory consultees, including Government Office for the West Midlands (GOWM), local authorities within and adjoining the Plan area, the Environment Agency, the Countryside Agency and English Nature. Copies of the Plan were also sent to parish councils within the Plan area. Other organisations including interest groups, the waste management industry and their representatives, and waste management industry trade bodies have been notified of the publication of the Plan by letter. [See Appendix 3].

At Revised Deposit Draft stage, copies of the revised Plan were again sent to statutory consultees, including Government Office for the West Midlands (GOWM), local authorities within and adjoining the Plan area, the Environment Agency, the Countryside Agency and English Nature. All registered objectors were notified of the publication of the revised Plan, along with details of the proposed response to each of their objections.

Prior to the Public Local Inquiry, all registered objectors were notified of the publication of a schedule of proposed pre-inquiry changes to the Plan. Following the receipt of the Inspector's report, all registered objectors and Government Office for the West Midlands (GOWM) were notified of the publication of a schedule of proposed Modifications to the Plan.

Finally, on adoption of the Plan by the Council, all registered objectors were notified of the adoption of the Plan.

Steps Taken to Publicise the Plan

At First Deposit Draft stage, the County Council issued a press release on 23 May 2002 and officers and members held a press briefing about the Plan on Wednesday 24 May 2002. The press release and briefing were reported in local papers and on the local radio station (the press release is given in Appendix 1). The publication of the Plan for consultation was advertised in the London Gazette and in local newspaper notices.

In addition to the arrangements above, the County Council arranged a series of briefings for District Council officers and elected members in each district; for Parish and Town Councils in areas affected by sites identified in the Plan; and a seminar for community and environmental groups and representatives of the local waste management industry. These seminars provided a further opportunity to explain the Plan's content and its preparation process.

Statement of Publicity

At Revised Deposit Draft stage, the County Council issued a press release on 17 March 2003 (see Appendix 1). The publication of the Plan for consultation was advertised in local newspaper notices. A series of public meetings were held to explain changes to the Plan in respect of the proposed landfill sites at Woodhouse Farm near Telford and those near Shrewsbury.

The adoption of the Plan was advertised in local newspaper notices (see Appendix 2). Following the adoption of the Plan, the Council intends to contact local waste management businesses in Shropshire to increase awareness of the Plan and its objectives. The Council also intends to prepare and issue a 'non-technical' summary of the Plan to enhance its accessibility to the community in Shropshire.

Opportunity to Make Representations

The Plan preparation process has included a number of opportunities for representations to be made. Copies of Plan documents and supporting information have been made available for inspection, free of charge at the County Council's offices at Shirehall, Shrewsbury; at District and Borough Council offices and at libraries and information points throughout the county. It has also been possible to view and download the Plan on the County Council's website or to purchase a copy of the Plan by contacting Shropshire County Council.

Shropshire Revolution In Getting Rid Of The Rubbish

Shropshire people will soon be able to comment on a plan which identifies new sites for waste management right across the county.

Shropshire County Council has developed a comprehensive Waste Local Plan, aimed at keeping Shropshire in step with national and European law, which will introduce about 30 new sites around the county which may be used for recycling commercial and municipal waste, composting and other waste management facilities.

Shropshire's traditional method of dealing with waste - landfill sites - is also included in the plan, but there will be less reliance on it in future. The emphasis is strongly on recovery and recycling of waste and on composting.

A report going to councillors next week lists about 30 sites which meet the necessary criteria for a range of possible uses, although only about two-thirds of them will eventually be needed to give the wide-ranging service Shropshire requires.

Officers are recommending that the county should develop a larger number of small-scale sites, rather than concentrate activity on only a few major sites, because this will better serve Shropshire's thinly spread population and keep transportation of waste to a minimum.

However, several potential larger sites are located around the Shrewsbury area because of the population size.

The plan which goes to the Council's Cabinet meeting next Tuesday (30 April) is a first draft and a long consultation period, including a public inquiry, will follow.

The County Council hopes the plan will be adopted in its final version in some two years' time.

The Council's role will be in identifying where the waste sites should be. It is then up to private contractors and other third parties, such as district councils and community groups, to bring forward proposals and planning applications for the details of exactly what sort of waste facility goes on those sites.

"We are at a critical point both in Shropshire and nationally as regards waste management," said County Council Leader, Roger Walker.

"The amount of domestic and commercial waste we have to cope with is increasing rapidly year after year and it is vital that we have a plan which identifies where waste will be dealt with in future - not just the household waste we all produce but the materials from industry and commerce as well.

"Shropshire County Council, like all similar local authorities, has many new responsibilities and the Waste Local Plan is a legal requirement on us. We must respond in a positive way.

"This report is the result of a lot of developmental work over a considerable period of time and offers a long-term way forward for Shropshire in dealing with its growing waste problems."

Changes Proposed to Shropshire's Waste Local Plan

Shropshire County Council's Cabinet will consider about 250 changes to Shropshire's Waste Local Plan when it meets next week (Tuesday 25 March).

The changes are proposed in a report to Cabinet that responds to comments received from the public and new information. They would satisfy over half of the 1,000 objections made to the Plan when it was originally published in June 2002.

Many of the changes are minor, but some are more significant.

Further work by consultants has confirmed that the approach taken by the County Council to the identification and assessment of potential waste disposal sites near Shrewsbury was basically correct.

However, more detailed work reveals that, of the two sites originally identified in the Plan, because it would be difficult to get acceptable road access, the development of a site at Lower Edgebold is uncertain. At Day House Farm, the consultants conclude that while a site could be acceptable, its development would have significant adverse impacts which would have to be dealt with.

The consultants have also concluded that the site at Woodhouse Farm, near Telford, is a potentially suitable location for the development of a landfill or land-raising facility.

The report to Cabinet recommends that the adverse impacts caused by the development at Day House Farm outweigh those which would result from additional traffic caused by taking waste to the proposed site at Woodhouse Farm, near Telford. The report therefore proposes that the revised Plan continues to identify the site at Woodhouse Farm, near Telford, but that the sites near Shrewsbury be deleted.

In addition to changes to sites for waste disposal, the report proposes dropping 6 of the 25 waste transfer and recycling sites identified in the First Deposit Draft Plan as the land is no longer available.

John Stevens, Shropshire County Council's Cabinet member for sustainability, said: "I am pleased that the level of public interest in the Plan has enabled us to modify some of our original ideas. The revised Plan has much to commend it as a major contribution to sustainable waste management."

Following approval by Cabinet, the revised Plan and supporting documents will be placed on deposit for public consultation for a 6 week period beginning at the end of April. The publication of the Plan will be advertised in the local press and the Plan and supporting documents will be made available at local government offices and public libraries. The revised documents will also be available on the County Council's website (www.ShropshireOnline.gov.uk/polinfor.nsf).

At this stage, comments can only be made about the changes which have been proposed to the 'First Deposit Draft' Plan. Previous objections to the First Deposit Draft will still stand if changes have not been made that resolve the issue concerned. Outstanding objections which cannot be resolved through discussion with the Waste Planning Authority will be considered at a Public Local Inquiry which is likely to take place late in 2003.
