Landscape Connections Project Proposal

The National Landscape Team Manager gave an update on the Landscape Connections project proposal which was being led by the National Trust. He advised members that an expression of interest would be submitted shortly.

Land Use Framework Consultation Launch

The National Landscape Team Manager advised members that the government had recently launched a consultation on a new approach to land use, which was aimed at giving decision makers a toolkit to protect the most productive agricultural land and boost food security. He took the meeting through some of the key points of the consultation and stated that this would be brought back to a future meeting.

Test Case On 'Further the Purpose' Duty

The National Landscape Team Manager updated the committee on a recent judicial review where the government had admitted it had acted illegally when deciding on a development in a National Landscape without applying the statutory duty to further the purpose of the designation. He commented that this sets an important precedent for all National Parks and National Landscapes, as it made clear that all public bodies must comply with the new duty to seek to further the purpose of conserving and enhancing natural beauty in these areas.

Bishop's Castle Wind Turbine – Planning Application

The National Landscape Team Manager advised the meeting of an application for a single wind turbine situated within the National Landscape boundary near Bishop's Castle as part of the Bishop's Castle Heat and Wind Project and showed some details from the application.
